BANGOR REPRESENTED

Before the Senate Inter-State Commerce Committee.

Boston, July 8. Another Maine delegation appeared before the U. S. Senate Committee on Inter-State Commerce today, consisting of Hon. E. B. Nealley, President of the Bangor & Piscataquis railroad, Corporation Counsel Charles P. Stetson, B. B. Thatcher, Esq., and Hon. J. P. Bass. They also represent the Bangor Board of Trade. Ex-Gov. Smith, President of the Vermont Central, was an interested spectator.

President Nealley filed with the committee the resolutions adopted by the Bangor Board of Trade on the 2nd inst., declaring that good faith requires that the Canadian Pacific railroad having built its road through Maine under a charter granted by the State Legislature, should be granted all the privileges now allowed by the laws of the United States for the transportation of merchandise through the State to and from points in Canada and that all facilities should be given for the Transportation of Breadstuffs and other merchandize to and from all points in our western States over the railroads in Canada to and from all points in this State and connecting railroads.

"Corporation Counsel Stetson said it was the desire of Bangor citizens that that city should become a distributing point for northern and eastern Maine. The interests of the entire section imperatively demand that nothing be done to limit or trammel international commerce.

A. T. Devereux, of Bangor, representing the Castine road bed, the resolutions passed by the Castine Railway and Navigation Co., setting forth that all freight shipped from United States by the Canadian Pacific should be shipped from a United States port. Castine has the best harbor on the continent and it is the desire of the people that it shall be made the shipping port of the Canadian Pacific, since it is but 215 miles farther from Europe than Halifax.

A RELIGIOUS LUNATIC.

Causing Great Excitement Among the Negroes.

Charleston, S. C., July 8. Bell, the Olde crank who has been passing as Christ among the negroes on the banks of the Savannah river and who was held for lunacy a week or so ago and liberated although adjudged a lunatic, is causing great excitement among the negroes. His followers fall down on their hands and knees whenever he approaches, and their numbers are increasing every day. They say they are preparing for a march to Canada, where their Christ is to lead them next month. Negroes are flocking to him from all directions, leaving their homes, crops, and their belongings.

TUESDAY, JULY 9, 1889.

UNDER WHICH KING?

The point is reached where it is to be decided whether THE LAWS or THE SALOONS are to rule in Bangor!

For two weeks THE LAWS have been in control and order has reigned in our midst. Every useful industry, every legitimate interest, every harmless enjoyment of our community has been promoted, and the moral atmosphere has been purified by being freed from the fumes of intoxication.

Yesterday it was reported that a number of the closed saloons had defiantly opened their doors and resumed their unlawful traffic.

How or why they have assumed that they could safely commit yesterday violations of law that but a week ago were visited with seizure, confiscation and prosecution, we cannot tell.

We know that the sale of intoxicating liquors in this city to-day is as much a violation of law, and that the prosecution of such offences is as much a duty, as was the case ten days or three days ago.

Is it true that open defiance of law has been resumed by the liquor saloons of Bangor? And if it be true, what does the public sentiment of this city propose to do about it? When it comes to the question whether an intelligent, christian community is to be ruled by the RUM-SHOPS or by THE LAWS, it is no time for handling words of blame, or seeking to throw the responsibility upon this or that one.

It is a time for the conscience of our people to so arouse and so manifest itself, that public sentiment will advance like an army with banners to reinforce the demand for the supremacy of THE LAWS, and to inspire the hearts and strengthen the arms of all who are in authority.

It is a lamentable commentary upon the popular taste that the telegraph wires of this continent and the ocean cables were no monopolized yesterday by the rumors, denials and reports of a brutal prize fight that it was impossible to obtain the usual quota of current news of the day.

A Stolen Majority.

The Cleveland free trade organs have a good deal to say about the alleged popular majority given their candidate in the last election, but are very careful not to state how these figures were obtained. In a general way they attempt to attribute it to the demand for tariff reform and free trade, when as a matter of fact the strong was the protection sentiment in the South that only the most barefaced frauds prevented several States in the South from giving their electoral votes to the Republican candidates. Tennessee affords a striking illustration of the methods employed to return a manipulated Cleveland majority instead of a majority that expressed the actual preferences of the people. The Philadelphia Press has gleaned the following facts that are of particular interest at this time. It says: Strong suspicions of fraud in that State existed, but incontestable evidence of Democratic rascality was obtained in the investigation made by the Federal grand jury which has just adjourned in Memphis, and which brought in seventy-three indictments against 150 citizens for election irregularities committed in the presidential and congressional elections of last fall.

Taking the sworn evidence given before the grand jury and comparing the election returns of 1884 and 1888 and it is easy to discover how the scheme was carried out. The Republicans had strong hopes of carrying Tennessee. There had been a marked growth of protection sentiment in the State for years past, caused by the conversion of Democrats and the influx of white Republican voters from the North. The industrial life of the State has taken a new start, some of its towns and cities showing as wonderful a transformation as any seen in the South. Cleveland's free trade message further weakened the Democracy, and the Democratic State ticket was undeniably unpopular. And yet, notwithstanding all these facts, the Democrats figured but a majority last November almost three times as large as they had in 1884.

That the Republican hope of giving the State's electoral vote to Harrison was not baseless is shown by the gains made in East Tennessee. In this section of the State the Republican majority was 9,656 larger in 1888 than in 1884. Foreseeing this gain, the Democrats selected a solid group of seven counties in the southwestern corner of Tennessee, in which they had full control of the election machinery, to overcome the Republican gain and save the State to Cleveland. The following are the seven counties and the vote they cast in the last two Presidential elections:

	1888		1884
Counties.	Harrison.	Cleveland.	Blaine.	Cleveland.
Shelby,	9,277	11,692	9,185	7,926
Fayette,	960	5,213	2,037	2,729
Hardeman,	1,998	3,913	1,226	3,040
Tipton,	1,487	2,551	1,468	3,093
Haywood,	1,764	1,902	2,765	1,843
Lauderdale,	1,431	1,858	1,350	1,488
Madison,	1,479	3,208	1,901	3,386
Totals,	18,476	27,015	20,866	23,440

According to these figures the Democrats' gain in seven counties was 8,575 over the vote of 1884, while the Republicans lost 4,417, or a net Democratic gain of about 13,000. It should be remembered that these counties had in 1880 a white population of 100,938 and a colored population of 125,155. It is probable that the ratio of the colored to the white population is even greater now on account of the concentration of the blacks along the Mississippi lowlands. There is no honest reason why the Republican majority in these counties should not have been at least as large for Harrison as for Blaine. The testimony given before the grand jury sufficiently explains why it was not. Ballot-boxes were carried away and when returned the vote was found to have been changed; the prisoners in Memphis jail were taken out, and, not only voted, but repeated; poll books were written up to order, and in hardly any instance did the refugee correspondent with the influx and assist of corpses, failure kept by the Republicans.

The poll book kept at the Hazelwood precinct of the Fourteenth Civil District of Shelby County is unique in its way. There are about 1200 voters there, but after this number had voted the Democrats wanted more votes. How they obtained them is shown by the following page from the poll book as transcribed by a correspondent of the St. Louis Globe-Democrat:

1353 T. A. Alexander.	1370 Roselle E. Brown.
1354 H. Allen.	1371 Thomas Bradley.
1355 T. Abernathy.	1372 Luke Craig.
1356 W. Bedford.	1373 J. M. Cox.
1357 W. Bruton.	1374 Walker Carter.
1358 N. Bell.	1375 Abner Clark.
1359 L. Boyd.	1376 Wm. Cunningham.
1360 W. B. Craig.	1377 Albert Clark.
1361 J. W. Clapp.	1378 C. A. Coleman.
1362 M. W. Cook.	1379 E. M. Darden.
1363 W. L. Anderson.	1380 Frank Douglas.
1364 J. W. Armor.	1381 Wm. M. Driver.
1365 J. M. Adkerson.	1382 Sope Davis.
1366 W. T. Brown.	1383 Park Harris.
1367 E. T. Banks.	1384 Hy. Harter.
1368 Thomas Boyle.	1385 Hy. Harris.
1369 A. M. Burke.	1386 Luther Hill.

It would be interesting to hear some of the tin-horn free trade journals that are continually shrieking about "blocks of five" explain these "alphabetical blocks" of voters. If it was necessary to add anything to make this record more shameful it was supplied by the comment of the Memphis Avalanche on the indictments found by the grand jury. It said: "The grand jury of the United States Court found silly indictments against a number of Democrats, all of which moves us to exclaim—[Picture of five rats.]" It is probable, however, that the country may take a more serious view of this burglary of the ballot boxes in Tennessee in the interest of free trade.

CLOSE THE LIQUOR-SHOPS!

The Protest Against the Traffic.

THE UPLIFTING OF EARNEST VOICES.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

I wish to thank you with all my "heart, soul and mind" for your timely, truthful and powerful words in approval of the closing of the liquor saloons in our city, and in favor of keeping them closed. It seems to me that every friend of virtue and social good order in our community must enthusiastically say amen, to your manly utterances.

The authorities of Bangor have demonstrated their ability to close the saloons and stop their hellish work. For two weeks these saloons have been in the grip of our police force, and the outflow of intoxicating drinks has practically ceased. There is no argument that should be approved outside of Pandemonium which can be offered in favor of relaxing that grip. Every interest in our city, public and private, material and moral demands that they be kept closed. Has not the good name of our city been blackened? Has not Bangor been made a bye-word of hissing and reproach all over the country? Have not our sons, brothers and fathers been tempted by open rum-selling in our midst? Have not the entreaties and prayers of our wives, mothers and sisters been mocked long enough for a halt to be called in this wicked business? And now that it has been called, will any one dare to take the terrible responsibility of countermanding that call and reopening our streets to the flow of intoxicating drinks?

Very truly yours,

A. BATTLES.

BANGOR, July 8, '89.

GIVE US RELEASE FROM THE RUM CURSE.

To the Editor of the Whig and Courier:

God bless THE WHIG for the strong stand it has taken for the enforcement of the law against the rum-shops. It is easy to see where are the sympathies of some newspapers. But the paper that caters to the tastes of the worst elements of society is not the paper to lead public sentiment or achieve success in the long run. Bangor has been cursed by law-defying men all too long; so have other towns on the Penobscot. Many wives and mothers are praying for the terrible blight to be removed from the home. This cannot be so long as the tempter meets the boys and young men on every hand.

While I took my pen merely to thank you for what you are doing in behalf of law, order and the highest interests of society, I will add the humble opinion that there is no way so effectual of making an unpopular and breaking down a good law as to neglect its enforcement. It may be that to vigorously enforce a bad law would be the shortest way to get rid of it; but I am confident that nothing could so win favor for our prohibitory law as to give it such an enforcement as to make it a complete protection of our homes from the rum-demon. Many good people have of late become disgusted with prohibition and expressed a desire to try high license, simply because of the prevalence of intemperance. Let them see that prohibition does prohibit and they will be satisfied. The fault is not in the law, but with the failure to execute it. Now let society arise to protect itself. Let the weapon of law be vigorously plied against the saloons. Let the question be fully tested whether or not a set of men shall, from sheer greed, carry on among us a blood-money business that sets at defiance the laws of the State and every interest of society. All good people are gratified at your present course. All good people bless every blow you are striking, and hope you will not cease until we are happily freed from the rum-curse.

OLD TOWN, July 8, '89.

An Augusta correspondent of the Boston Sunday Globe, in commenting upon the withdrawal of Mr. Donigan of Bangor, from his candidacy for Commissioner of Navigation, stated that Mr. Donigan's papers had never been filed in the appointment division of the Treasury Department, and intimated that the papers might never have got beyond Bangor. Mr. Donigan very effectively disposes of that insinuation by informing us that he personally filed his papers in the appointment division in Washington.

THE SENATE COMMITTEE.

Further Speakers at the Hearing in Boston.

An Adjournment to Detroit.

BOSTON, July 8. Before the Inter-State Commerce Committee this afternoon Jerome Jones was heard in behalf of the importers of Boston. He said Boston importers feel that the success of Boston commerce is dependent upon having a reliable continuance of comparatively low rates to and from Boston. This relief is secured by competition of the northern roads which are a part of the Grand Trunk and Canadian system. He believed these roads should not be hampered.

Ex-Gov. William Claflin, representing Boston merchants and manufacturers, said so far as he could learn no one desired any change in the present condition of competition so far as hurting out the Canadian roads was concerned. He found a decided opposition to the Inter-State Commerce law. He believed it has worked injuriously to New England and her manufacturing and commercial interests.

F. F. Emery, representing the New England Shoe and Leather Association, claimed that the "Northern Line" was not really a foreign line, but established by western business men to reduce the exactions which New York State lines imposed upon traffic coming to them from the west, and they opposed any interference with it.

Hon. Jonathan A. Lane, President of the Boston Merchants' Association, Hon. Alden Speare, William G. Barker, lumber selling agent, S. H. Skillen, of C. H. North & Co., pork packers, all spoke in the same vein. At the conclusion of the testimony Senator Cullom declared the hearing adjourned to Detroit, Mich.

THE DUL

EXHIBITION OF BRUTE POWER.

The Sullivan-Kilrain Prize Fight.

Sullivan Wins in Seventy-five Rounds.

Where Were the Officers Who Declared the Fight Should Not Occur?

After All Their Talk Only One Sheriff Entered a Mild Protest.

Trying to Stop the Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, July 8. Governor Nichols yesterday issued a proclamation forbidding the Sullivan-Kilrain fight to take place within the limits of the State of Louisiana and ordering the Brigadier-General commanding the State National Guard to take such steps as he deemed necessary to prevent the same.

Action of Governor Lowry.

JACKSON, Miss., July 8. Governor Lowry last night telegraphed the sheriff at Nicholson, authorizing him to obstruct the railroad tracks if necessary to prevent the prize fighters coming into Mississippi to fight.

RICHMOND, Miss., July 8. The train with the fighters on board arrived here at 8.30. After worrying around for half the night and speculating on the chances for the fight, people at the hotels, clubs and on the streets in New Orleans moved with a common impulse toward the depot. At the depot there was an indescribable rush. It seemed as though everybody in the city was going to the fight and everybody wanted to get aboard at the same time. In the throng were many of the most prominent people in the city, representing bankers, merchants, lawyers, editors and reporters. The greatest difficulty was experienced by the management in keeping people without tickets off the train and a force of detectives was provided, in each car.

Just before the train was finally made up Attorney General Rogers came aboard with Adjutant General Fellows and Col. Clom Walker, of the governor's staff, and stated that the fight must on Louisiana soil. The officials were assured that the men would not fight in this State.

At 1.39 the first train, with twelve coaches, pulled out and the conductor and engineer were given instructions to go straight through to the battle ground without stop. Aboard the train information was furnished that both Sullivan and Kilrain had reached the battle ground at 6.30.

At the Mississippi line there was a party of twenty-five armed men and the train was flagged. No attention was paid to the signal, however, and the special dashed by, at a speed of seventy-five miles an hour.

It was just before daybreak when the train got into Mississippi. The ring was pitched and everything was put in readiness for the fight to take place at 8 o'clock.

The Story of the Fight.

NEW ORLEANS, July 8. There was great excitement at the ring side as Bud Renaud, Mike Donovan and Johnny Murphy made their appearance at 9.30 A. M. On the toss up for position Kilrain's representative, Mike Donovan, won, and he selected the northeast corner. Muldoon, Sullivan's representative, chose the southwest corner.

A Poor Apology for a Sheriff.

At this juncture the sheriff of the county made his appearance and in the name of the State of Mississippi commanded peace and ordered this being the only effort on the part of the authorities to interfere with the fight.

Kilrain was the first to make his appearance accompanied by Mike Donovan and Charlie Mitchell. He was greeted with applause and wore a very serious air. As Sullivan jumped into the ring the cheers were deafening. He looked in marked contrast to Kilrain, seeming perfectly at ease regarding the termination of the combat. The name of Pat Kendrick, of New Orleans, was offered by the Kilrain side as referee, but he was not acceptable to the representatives of Sullivan who proposed the name of John Fitzpatrick, of New Orleans, who acted.

W. E. Harding stepped up to Kilrain, and placing $1,000 in his hands told him it was sent by Mr. Fox for him to bet with Sullivan. Kilrain went over to Sullivan, and offered to bet, and was immediately taken up. The $2,000 was deposited in the hands of the referee. At the call of time Kilrain and Sullivan advanced to the centre of the ring.

Round 1—Kilrain immediately made a rush for Sullivan, feinting with his left, and suddenly clinched. Sullivan threw him heavily to the turf, securing the first honors and loud applause. Time 15 seconds.

Round 2—Both men advanced promptly at the call of time, Sullivan immediately leading with his left, catching Kilrain heavily in the ribs. The men clinched and Sullivan secured a second fall, amid loud cheers. Time 30 seconds.

Round 3—Kilrain rushed at Sullivan at once, catching the latter fellow around the neck. The latter immediately broke away and got in a short arm blow on the neck. In this round Kilrain struck, at least twice, though apparently foul blows before the body which the referee from his position could not see. They were greeted with hisses by the crowd, suppressing and being so proclaimed by Sullivan's friends that Kilrain wanted to lose on a foul. The round ended by Kilrain going down from a light blow on the neck.

Round 4—Both men sparred cautiously for an opening. Kilrain, after some two feints on the part of Sullivan, rushed. Sullivan, securing a cross-buttock hold, tried to throw the Baltimore boy, but he broke away and landed a stinger on Sullivan's jaw. Both men sparred cautiously, Kilrain succeeding in getting in a light blow on Sullivan's neck. Round 4, which was in favor of Kilrain, ended by the latter falling to avoid punishment.

Kilrain Immediately Retreated,

Sullivan following him up. Kilrain made a vicious lunge at his head which fell short. Sullivan swung his terrible right at his opponent's jugular, but he too fell short. Kilrain countered harmlessly on his neck. The round ended by Kilrain going down near his own corner, his aim appearing to be to avoid punishment, and pursuing the same tactics as adopted by his trainer, Mitchell, in his "foot race" in France.

Round 6—Sullivan commenced operations by landing heavily with his left on Kilrain's jaw. They then clinched and fell heavily, Sullivan on top. At the conclusion of this round Kilrain was carried to his corner and Sullivan walked to his assistance. Time 22 minutes.

Round 7—Both men sparred cautiously for the opening, soon clinched and indulged in some short arm work, Kilrain getting in three or four good ones on Sullivan's ribs, and a sharp right hander on Sullivan's right ear, drawing blood.

First Blood Claimed and Allowed for Kilrain

Time 11½ minutes.

Round 8—Sullivan came up bleeding from a cut on the ear, having the appearance of an enraged bull, and immediately rushed at Kilrain, and after a few passes succeeded in breaking down his guard, sending Kilrain to grass with a heavy right hander in the mouth. First knock down claimed and allowed for Sullivan amid prolonged cheers from his admirers. Time 20 minutes.

Round 9—Very brief. Kilrain simply slipping down to escape punishment. Time 30 seconds.

Round 10. Kilrain came up looking very serious and as he showed no disposition to come to the centre of the ring, Sullivan impatiently exclaimed, "Stand up and fight like a man. I'm not a sprinter, I'm a fighter." As soon as Kilrain stood near him Sullivan made a pass at his face and Kilrain countered on his stomach, his blows evidently lacking force and Sullivan, no apparent danger to himself, made a rush at Kilrain, caught him, threw him and fell heavily, Sullivan on top. At the conclusion of this round Kilrain was carried to his corner and Sullivan walked to his assistance. Time 22 minutes.

REMARKABLE CASE.

For two years I had rheumatism so bad that I considered myself unfit for work and confined myself to my bed for a whole year during which time I took all sorts of remedies in my hands to my head, and for 3 months could not move myself in bed, was reduced to 80 lbs. from 190 to 80 lbs. Was treated by best physicians, only to grow worse. Finally I took Swift's specific, and soon began to improve. After a while was at my work, and for the past five months have been as well as I ever was—all from the effects of Swift's Specific.

Read many in its favor come in from all sections where it is known. It not only effectually removes from the system these troublesome and disagreeable worms, but children who have been weak and puny for years, are almost by its use restored to health by its use. Being a mild and gentle laxative, it is a corrective of the highest value. It is purely vegetable and contains no local. It has also expelled several lizards. One eight inches in length, is spotted, belongs to the water species and looks like a veritable young alligator. This caused by worms and indigestion.

STATE NEWS.

Androscoggin.

A stabbing affray occurred in the vicinity of the Lewiston Machine shop Thursday morning. A party of young men had gathered there, more or less intoxicated, and two of them became involved in a broil of some kind. The others attempted to separate them and a general fight was the result. To add interest to the affair Andrew Carroll, of Auburn, and Joseph Crosby, of Lewiston, drew their jack knives and indulged in the pleasing diversion of attempting to mutilate each other. Carroll received a bad cut in the side and Crosby a gash in the arm before the row was stopped. The wounds of both were dressed by Dr. Donovan. Carroll's was by far the most serious.

A deaf and dumb boy by name of Alexis Lebrum met with a fearful accident in Lewiston Thursday afternoon. He attempted to explode a large cannon cracker in his right hand, evidently thinking it a Roman candle. The explosion mutilated his hand in a fearful manner. The fingers were literally torn off, and the palm injured so that it had to be amputated below the wrist. The operation was performed by Drs. Martel and Matt. The accident occurred near the saloon of James Hanly and two of the fingers were found Friday morning by some boys over 200 yards from the place where the accident occurred. The boy was 21 years of age and has been in the employ of Mr. Horbury of Music Hall.

Aroostook.

On July 1st, Samuel Tompkins hauled a load of shingles from Washburn to Presque Isle with a three horse team, the gross weight of which was 7350 lbs., as weighed upon A. M. Smith's scales.

Theodore Pelkey received quite a bad wound last Friday forenoon while sawing shingles in the Washburn mill. He attempted, as he has done hundreds of times, to steady a short shingle bolt with his arm, but this time the ratchet caught his sleeve and held his arm to the saw. To take his arm away necessitated straightening it, in which case it would have been amputated instantly, as it was the biceps muscle of his arm was nearly severed. At this date the patient is doing well.

Cumberland.

Rev. Dr. Bashford, former pastor of Chestnut street church in Portland, was elected and has been inaugurated President of Ohio Wesleyan University, which is one of the largest and best Methodist colleges in the country.

George W. Nason, who last winter was arrested at Deering, for assault and battery on his wife, later took his eleven-year-old daughter to Boston with him. In the courts of Massachusetts the care of the child was granted to the mother with whom she has since been living in Portland. Tuesday night, Mr. Nason came to Portland and kidnapped the child. No trace of the father or child can be found.

Kennebec.

Mrs. Elijah W. Halford, wife of President Harrison's private secretary, was a Maine lady! Miss Faunie M. Armstrong, and her father was for many years a leading citizen of Winthrop, Me., where she resided during her girlhood days. She was educated at Kent's Hill. After leaving school, her father, in hopes to regain his failing health, moved West and his daughter went with him, where she subsequently became the wife of Mr. Halford.

A pleasant reunion of the class of '70, Colby University, at the residence of Dr. Joseph Ricker, Augusta, ended Friday morning. There are nine survivors of the class, originally numbering nineteen. The following were present: Dr. S. L. Caldwell, late president of Vassar College; Dr. A. H. Granger, of Rhode Island; Rev. Milton Merrick of Hampden, Mass.; Rev. Thomas G. Wright, of Hopewell, N. J.; Rev. Dr. Joseph Ricker, of Augusta; Rev. N. F. Fay, of Ohio; A. H. Briggs, Esq., of Boston. Dr. Ricker tendered the party a banquet, and they spent the night with him.

Piscataquis.

Two cows owned by John Bridges of West Dover, were found dead in his pasture last Sunday. They lay a short distance apart, and no evidence of struggle could be seen. What killed them is a mystery.

Sagadahoc.

The Richmond Dispatch says, Albion Grover, engineer on the steamer Blonde, was caught in the main shaft and his leg jammed so solidly between the shaft and deck as to stop the engine. The leg was fearfully torn and mangled.

Somerset.

The Somerset Reporter believes that the attractions of Northern Somerset are not advertised as thoroughly as they should be. The scenery is unsurpassed in Maine, the forests are extensive, the trout ponds numerous, fish and game abound, and, while the number of pleasure seekers and sportsmen is large, it could be trebled with benefit to the vacationists and profit to those who are so well prepared to entertain them.

Washington.

The following officers have been elected by the Frontier Guards; First Lieutenant K. E. Livermore, elected captain; Second Lieutenant W. S. Hume elected First Lieutenant; Sergeant Davis Loring Jr., elected Second Lieutenant.

The contractors have commenced work on the Lighthouse in Lubec Narrows. It is located just above the wooden beacon, in the Western Channel, nearly opposite the red Buoy. The structure will consist of a circular foundation pier, supporting a three-story circular dwelling, a veranda with boat davits, a circular parapet, and an octagonal lantern.

The steamer Cumberland ran into the schooner George Killam Monday afternoon, in a thick fog near West Quoddy Head, striking her just abaft the mainmast and cutting her in two. The schooner was owned by Captain Justison, of Penfield, N. B., who commanded her, and she was bound from that place to Rockland with a load of cordwood. The crew were taken aboard the Cumberland and landed at Cutler.

The new Masonic Hall at Machias is nearly ready for occupancy, and all the arrangements will be perfected for the dedicatory exercises on Wednesday next. The banquet will be provided by the ladies' society at the Congregational Vestry. It is expected that in addition to the Grand Officers who will be present, that the several lodges in the county will be represented.

Very few sardines were packed in Lubec last week. Some of the factories got no fish. The few taken the weirmen sold very readily at $12 per hogshead. One lot of four hogsheads sold for $35. Old fishermen predict a scarcity of herring this season. They say if the weather continues dry the summer school will not come in from sea, and those that come early in the season will seek the rivers, creeks and bays where they can find fresh water.

"Old Creedmor" is a big whale that plays around Passamaquoddy bay, about two miles from town, every summer. At least it is positively asserted by fishermen that the same old fellow has made his appearance annually so feed on the schools of herring that frequent the place in the summer season, and this is how he got his title. In times past when a score of the crack shots of the Frontier Guards were too tired to walk out to the rifle range, they would take a boat and sail up down the harbor at certain time of tide, would be quite certain of finding his whaleship playing around the bay. Then they would make use of him for a target as a part of his big carcass frequently rose above the surface, a long distance off. Another member of the Guards says you could always tell when he was hit for he "kicked like a steer."

York.

Leonard McKenney of Buxton, who fell down stairs a few days ago, died of his injuries, Thursday night. He was sixty years old and leaves a family.

There will be no longer an excuse for the man who allows his umbrella to drip down your neck, or who runs into you when you are walking in an opposite direction. The Bangorman who invented the glass window by which one's nearest approach to a policeman deserves the world. Such windows have been in use for years in Europe, and the Bangor man has only followed the old plan of placing a small piece of glass where it would be of service. The idea is a good one, and will be appreciated by many.

A writer in Leisure Hours says that the most dramatic of silent men was Wallenstein, the antagonist of Gustavus Adolphus, and the commander of the Emperor's armies in the thirty years' war. He insisted that the deepest silence should reign around him. His officers took care that no loud conversation should disturb their general. They knew that a chamberlain had been hanged for waking him without orders, and that an officer who would wear clanking spurs in the commander's presence had been secretly put to death. In the room of his palace the servants glided as if phantoms, and a dozen sentinals moved around his tent charged to secure the silence "de profundis" demanded. Chains were stretched across the street, in order to guard him against the disturbance of sounds. Wallenstein's taciturnity, which made him shun speech, and his love of silence, that caused him to be irritated at the slightest noise, were due to his constitutional temperament. He never smiled, he never asked advice from any one, and he could not endure to be gazed at, even when giving an order. The soldiers, when he crossed the camp, pretended not to see him, knowing that a curious look would bring them punishment.

When the summer's rose has faded
What shall make it fair again?
When the face with pain is shaded
What shall drive away the pain?
Never shall a blossom brighten
After blighted by the frost,
But the loss of pain may lighten,
And we need not count as lost
All the pleasure of life when the wife and mother, upon whom the happiness of home so largely depends, is afflicted with the delicate diseases peculiar to women. It is terrible to contemplate the misery existing in our midst because of the prevalence of these diseases. It is high time that all women should know that there is one sure remedy for all female complaints, and that is Dr. Pierce's favorite prescription. Do not allow ill health to fasten itself upon you. Ward it off by the use of this standard remedy. But if it has already crept in, put it to rout. You can do it, by the "Favorite Prescription." It is guaranteed to give satisfaction in every case, or money paid for it will be returned.

For biliousness, sick headache, indigestion, and constipation, take Dr. Pierce's Pellets. july10 d&wlw
